MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear members

Our headquarters at the UCI World Cycling Centre (WCC) in Aigle, Switzerland, provided a fitting venue for a press conference on 5 June to announce the Grand Départ of the 2026 Tour de France Femmes avec Zwift. I am delighted that the first stage will take place in Lausanne, just 40km from the UCI WCC, while the second stage will set off just down the road from our headquarters in Aigle.

The Tour de France Femmes avec Zwift will be one of 28 events of the 2026 UCI Women's WorldTour, whose calendar was approved, along with that of the 2026 UCI WorldTour, at our UCI Management Committee meeting this month (10-12 June). We had very positive discussions during our three days in Arzon, France, and took some important decisions concerning the continued development of cycling. You can read more in the Spotlight section of this newsletter.

The seventh edition of the UCI Mobility & Bike City Forum was organised on 20 and 21 June in Copenhagen, Denmark. This year, the event was hosted jointly with the Copenhagen Cycling Summit, with the presence of a particularly wide range of experts, policymakers, and industry leaders to discuss active mobility. I was able to join participants on the second day, and enjoy some very interesting exchanges, including with the new President of the National Federation, the Danmarks Cykle Union, Mr Morten Anderson. I also joined Forum delegates on a cycle tour of the city taking in some of the impressive cycling infrastructure in this city which is one of the most bike-friendly in the world.

I have just returned from Les Herbiers, France, the venue of the French Road National Championships. This was a very significant event this year as it also included the Afghanistan Women's Road Championships – individual time trial and road race – which the UCI organised in collaboration with the French Cycling Federation. The last edition of the National Championships for Afghan women took place at our UCI headquarters in Aigle in 2022, a poignant occasion with the participation of 50 refugee women from Afghanistan, whom we had helped evacuate from their country the previous year. I am thrilled that we were again able to give them an opportunity to ride for their national jersey.

I take this opportunity to extend my warm congratulations to Ms Anais Corromoto Muñoz López on her appointment as President of the Venezuelan Cycling Federation, as well as to Mr Bernd Dankowski on his election as President of the German Cycling Federation. On behalf of the UCI, I thank them both for their commitment to the development of our sport and wish them every success in their new roles.

Dakar 2026 Youth Olympic Games (31 October - 13 November 2026)

The International Olympic Committee (IOC) recently released the participation criteria for the Dakar 2026 Youth Olympic Games, which will take place from 31 October to 13 November 2026 in and around Dakar, Senegal. Cycling will be on the programme with the road discipline, including both a road race and time trial. The IOC has decided that 42 men and 42 women will be able to participate in the road cycling events (total of 84 athletes); all competitors will participate in both the road race and the time trial.

The process by which National Olympic Committees (NOCs) can participate in these Games will be different than in the past, and is as follows:

In May 2025, the IOC invited all NOCs to submit a list of the sports in which they would like their athletes to participate during the Dakar 2026 Youth Olympic Games.

To be considered for participation in road cycling, NOCs must also meet certain eligibility criteria. For each gender, NOCs must have satisfied any 1 of the 3 following criteria:

 have at least one Junior athlete of the gender in question participate in the 2025 UCI Road World Championships in Kigali, Rwanda.

 have at least one Junior athlete in the gender in question participate in the 2025 Continental Championships for the Continental Confederation of which the National Federation is a member.

or

• earn at least one point in the 2025 UCI Junior Nations Cup ranking for the gender in question.

Example:

A National Federation entered two Men Junior athletes in the 2025 Continental Championships for road cycling, but no Women Junior athletes. They did not enter any Men Junior or Women Junior athletes in the 2025 UCI Road World Championships, nor did they earn any points in the 2025 UCI Junior Nations Cup ranking for either gender.

Outcome: The NOC for this country would be eligible to participate in the Men category for road cycling at the 2026

Youth Olympic Games, but not the Women category.

The maximum number of athletes per gender that an NOC may enter is two for NOCs from Africa, and one for NOCs from all other continents.

If there are more eligible NOCs that wish to participate in road cycling than there are available athlete quota places, the IOC will decide which NOCs will participate, with input from the UCI. To do so, the IOC will consider which other sports an NOC is eligible to participate in, with the goal of ensuring that all NOCs participate in at least one sport during the 2026 Youth Olympic Games.

In the case of an NOC being invited to participate in road cycling, their athletes must meet the following criteria for registration:

- · Have a licence issued by their National Federation for 2026
- Have been born between (or on) 14 November 2008 and 31 December 2009.

National Federations wishing to participate in road cycling at the Dakar 2026 Youth Olympic Games are advised to remain in close contact with the NOC for their country.

UCI WCC'S CORNER

Training and education at the UCI WCC and its satellites opportunities open to their athletes, coaches and mechanics, as well as the correct procedure to obtain official certification.

The Union Cycliste Internationale (UCI) and the UCI WCC Regional and Continental Development Satellites play an essential role in the global development of cycling. These structures contribute in particular to the development of athletes and the implementation of certain actions within the framework of the UCI Solidarity Programme. They offer privileged access to training, education and development for athletes, particularly for emerging National Federations.

The UCI WCC Development Satellites operate in accordance with the mission of the UCI WCC: to be a tool for development and performance at the service of National Federations, Continental Confederations and their members.

These Satellites offer a wide range of activities to the National Federations in their region, including:

- · training for coaches
- · training for mechanics
- · training camps for athletes
- · talent identification camps
- · various other development activities.

To date, the UCI WCC Development Satellites network comprises 11 centres spread across five continents:

- Cambridge, New Zealand (continental)
- Yeongju, South Korea (continental)
- Shuzenji, Japan (regional)
- · Shanghai, China (continental)
- Johor Bahru, Malaysia (regional)
- Musanze Bugesera Rwamagana, Rwanda (regional)
- Paarl, South Africa (continental WCC Subsidiary)
- Anadia, Portugal (continental)
- Bromont, Canada (continental)
- · Couva, Trinidad and Tobago (continental)
- · Lima, Peru (continental)

It should be noted that these 11 Satellites are currently the only centres officially recognised by the UCI.

At the end of the training courses organised in these Satellites, each athlete receives an official certificate of participation, drawn up in accordance with the following model:

All training courses organised at the Satellites are approved by the UCI WCC, which issues the corresponding official certificates directly:

A certificate issued by an entity that is not officially recognised by the UCI and does not feature its official branding cannot be validated by the UCI WCC. Consequently, any training or coaching undertaken outside the official satellite network will not be recognised or validated.

Launch of the "Ride & Learn" programme - cycling as a tool for education and peace

The UCI, the UCI World Cycling Centre, and Peace and Sport have officially announced the launch of Ride & Learn, a groundbreaking educational programme that places cycling at the heart of social cohesion, inclusion, and the promotion of peace values.

As part of this strategic partnership, the three founding organisations allows each organization to contribute their expertise towards their shared goal: making cycling a powerful driver of lasting social change.

The Ride & Learn methodology offers educators, coaches, and teachers innovative tools to teach not only cycling skills but also core values such as respect, active listening, solidarity, and cooperation.

The programme is built around a structured educational manual comprising 75 training cycling sessions. It is based on three progressive value-transmission cycles:

- · Accept yourself: building self-confidence, personal expression, and active listening
- Accept others: learning mutual respect and constructive communication
- Live together: fostering teamwork, inclusion, and togetherness within the group

The Ride & Learn programme is one of the tools offered by the UCI and the UCI WCC to support National Federations in their development activities. Its methodology can also be made available to any organisation – NGOs, clubs, ministries or other stakeholders – wishing to use the bicycle as a vehicle for education, peace and inclusion.
